

14 November 2018

BROOKLANDS RADIO PRESENTER RECOGNISED AND AWARDED FOR LONG SERVICE

Brooklands Radio's very own esteemed presenter, Nigel Scott, has received recognition and appreciation through the Elmbridge Long Service Volunteering Award 2018.

Along with his own show on Monday afternoons Nigel is also Honorary President of Surrey Music with over ten years dedicated service to the Society including the post of Chairman which he stepped down from in 2015.

The Awards are designed to recognise, and say thank you, to volunteers who have given five years or more to a voluntary or community group and who have gone over and above for their locality.

The Mayor of Elmbridge, Councillor Shweta Kapadia, in presenting Nigel and other volunteers with the award on Friday 19th October at the Elmbridge Civic Offices, said: "We are delighted to acknowledge the valuable support provided by volunteers from across the Borough at the Elmbridge Long Service Volunteering Awards. We encourage people to nominate volunteers who have supported the local community in Elmbridge and have been overwhelmed with the quality of nominations we had this year."

Following the successful Elmbridge Long Service Awards first held in 2016, the Council and Central Surrey Voluntary Action have come together again to organise the Elmbridge Long Service Awards 2018.

Alan Timbrell, Chairman of Brooklands Radio, says: "Nigel is a shining star of our community and Brooklands Radio and he shows the positive impact volunteering can make. He also has wise words and honest advice and some truly memorable puns! We congratulate him on his achievement and are very proud of him."

Brooklands Radio is a not-for-profit station for Surrey that can be heard on the Internet every day with all the best in local features, news, travel and good music.

Listen online or download the free Brooklands Radio app.